GRASS VALLEY BOREHAM MINE SINKING SHAFT

O. Witte of Los Angeles, who is prominently connected witn the Grass Valley- Boreham Mine at Town Talk, was in this city last week on a visit to the property.

Sinking is now in progress at the mine, which has just been newly equipped throughout with headframe, hoist and compressor; a branch of the P. G. & E. electric power line having been built into the property to furnish all needed power.

The shaft is now at a depth of 200 feet and the vein at the bottom is from six to eight feet between walls.

The formation on both foot and hanging is Mariposa slate with indications near the vein of some serpentinization. Some of the quartz is brightly tinged with mariposite—a rather unusual occurrence in this district—but quite common in the Alleghany District and along the mother lode country.

The ore contains about one and one half per cent iron pyrite and chalcopyrite, with a showing of free gold in the upper level of the mine.

The Boreham vein is the east extension of the old Merrimac; which was worked by Col. Stone in the '90s. Col. Stone sunk the Merrimac shaft to a depth of 525 feet and some excellent ore was taken from it at that time.

The objective point at present is to continue sinking to the 300 level and from there to intercept the Merrimac shoot, which is said to rake toward the east and into the property. The 300 will also be driven eastward into territory about which very little is known.

Development at the Boreham is being watched with interest by mining men as it lies about midway between the Idaho-Maryland, which is now said to have in the neighborhood of $2,000,000 worth of ore blocked out, and the old Pittsburg of the Nevada City basin, which has a large production to its credit.

MAYFLOWER MINE IS BEING REHABILITATED

At the Mayflower mine, near Nevada City, H. A. Hood is making many improvements. New corrugated iron roofing is being placed over the mill building as well as all other buildings on the property. All broken windows which seem to have been the target for boys for some time past, have been replaced and the blacksmith shop has been rebuilt.

The Greenman shaft has been unwatered and the equipment placed in good condition. The shaft is being widened and wired for electric lighting and the work of drifting is to start again at once.

The Greenman incline is 400 feet deep and some high grade ore carrying a large amount of sulphides was taken from it several years ago. There are three known shoots on this vein that are to be developed from the 400 level.

The Mayflower is equipped with a 10X16 Laidlaw compressor which is housed in a fireproof building with concrete floors and foundation. It is proposed in the near future to sink a new vertical shaft on this property from which a number of known veins will be developed at depth.

DR. CORBETT BURIED IN OAKLAND AUGUST 14

Word has been received of the passing of Dr. William F. Corbett at an Oakland hospital where he has been ill since the death of his wife at San Juan last July. His death comes as a shock to his many Nevada county friends, who though they knew of his illness, did not expect it would be fatal.

Dr. Corbett, who had practiced dentistry in Downieville for a number of years before going to Oakland was a native of England. He was about 59 years old.

POOR OLD LIZZIE GETS WELL EARNED REST

After 17 years of faithful service, during which time she scooted Dr. Chappell of Grass Valley around on his professional visits, held pipe in her teeth, pulled roots from clogged sewers and did other menial tasks that go with the pulmbing business, Fred Breese's familiar white "Lizzie" has been retired on account of the infirmities and rattles that come with old age, and her familiar form will be soon on the streets no more.

True, Lizzie, like grandmas socks, which had to have a new heel this year and a new toe next year, was not exactly the same in body as she was in 1913, but in spirit she was the same kicking bronco she had always been.

Lizzie, according to Fred, had quite an enviable record. At one time she made the round trip from Nevada City to Tia Juana on 15 gallons of gas—or perhaps it was 50 gallons; anyhow there was never a time she couldn't show her heels to a Cadillac, or any other car in its class.

Lizzie will spend her last days way down on the Middle Yuba, near the Delhi Mine where, with one leg—I mean one wheel, jacked up she will suffer the humiliation of driving a centrifugal pump; and there she will stay because there is no road to get out over.

RICHARD E COLLINS PLEASED WITH TRIP

Sacramento, August 18—Richard E. Collins, chairman of the State Board of Equalization is back at his desk here today after a series of conferences with citizens throughout the twenty-five northern California counties composing the third equalization district represented by him since 1906.

Highly pleased with the reception which he has received, Collins, usually greeted as "Dick" by his constituents, found that their confidence in him and his work showed a prevalent desire to continue him at his post.

Collins, who lives in Redding, was Assessor of Shasta county from 1902 to 1906, and since then has been a member of the State Board of Equalization. He is seeking the Republican nomination to succeed himself at the primary election on August 26th.

PEAR SHIPMENTS STILL CONTINUE GOING STRONG

Pear shipments to the east are going out at the rate of about six refrigerator cars per day. The Colfax Fruit Growers packing about half of this amount.

An export shipment is being made of Anjou pears which are being packed by the Colfax Fruit Growers for South American and European shipment. These pears are reported to have brought the growers a fair price.

HIGH SCHOOL FACULTY READY FOR OPENING

The Nevada City high school opened today with the following faculty F. C. Coats, principal; H. E. Kjorlie C. E. Pedersen, Miss Anna Whelan, Miss Thelma Leschynsky, Miss Annie R. Gray, Miss Virginia K. Morris and Harold George as instructor in band music for both the high school and grammar grades.

The principal has been busy the past few days meeting the new students and arranging their courses and studies for the coming term.

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS SPOUTS A MINE

Many people who have passed over the concrete highway between Carson and Reno recall the site of Steamboat Springs, about ten miles south of Reno.

Steamboat, it is said, got its name at the time of its discovery because of the noise of escaping steam issuing from a small fumarole of boiling water. It sounded like the whistle of a steamboat.

For a considerable area around this old phenomena the ground literally spouts steam and hot water; it has probably done so for centuries.

The origin of the heat is not volcanic but is more likely the result of chemical action in which limestone plays an important part. There are boling springs at many other points in Nevada, notably near Amadee, onthe edge of Honey Lake, where water may be seen boiling furiously in many small ground basins.

The deep mines of the Comstock, which are not more than ten or twelve miles distant in an air line, from Steamboat, were so hot in their lower workings that it was impossible to work for more than twenty minutes at a shift at some of the faces.

Ross E. Browne, noted mining engineer now retired and living in Oakland, made his initial start toward success by undertaking a survey in the old Con Virginia after the company engineer had given up trying to make a survey in such an inferno of heat and steam. Mr. Browne says he volunteered to make the survey and did so only by having an assistant with a bucket and dipper which were used in dousing him with cold water to keep him from being parboiled.

Now, the Nevada Mining Press of Reno tells us, this thermal belt is to be mined with power shovels for the pure silica sands which have been deposited through the agency of the heated waters.

This sand is to be used in the making of plate glass and the most select glassware for cutting. The sand is of unusual purity, being quite free from iron which is generally a depreciating factor in quartz sand, as little as six tenths of one per cent being objectionable.

The sand grains at the Steamboat deposit are however coated with mercury which will be removed by flotation in the treatment necessary to prepare the sand for shipment, and retorted on the ground.

The washing plant, now erected on the ground, has a capacity of 300 tons per day and the flotation plant for the recovery of mercury, 100 tons daliy.

STATE RANGERS KEPT BUSY ON SMALL FIRES

State Fire Warden William F. Sharp and his assistants have had a busy week with numerous fires most of which were down country in grass and brush.

Friday afternoon the state force were called to Rough and Ready to look into a fire in a garage on the Abbott place. The garage was a total loss but no further damage was done.

Near Timbuctoo, below Smartsville there was a hot grass and brush fire which required the efforts of fire fighters from Yuba and Nevada counties to subdue.

A small fire was again put out on the ridge above the Prisk orchards. This fire was of incendiary origin, there have been several attempts to fire this district during the past summer.

BIGLOW BROTHERS HAVE NEW GRAVEL PROSPECT

Biglow Brothers of Columbia Hill are sinking a vertical shaft at the junction of Spring Creek and Knapp Creek, about 200 yards west of the road and a mile and a halt southeast of North Columbia. The shaft is down about 60 feet and should prove the main trough of the Bloomfield Channel immediately west of the junction with the Blue Tent channel.

It is well known that at Columbia Hill, although many million yards of gravel have been removed by the monitor, bedrock has never been reached except in one instance by means of a shaft, although it has been drilled in places with a Keystone drill.

The outcome of the Biglow prospect is being watched with a good deal of interest by those who have mining interests in the vicinity.

THREE HURT IN AUTO WRECK ON PINE STREET

Verne Sandow, Ernest Young and Marlan Young were injured when the car in which the three were driving down Pine Street near the home of Judge Walling turned over pinning the boys beneath the wreckage.

The Holmes Ambulance was immediately called by spectators, who removed the boys from beneath the car, and took them to the Nevada City Sanitarium where Dr. A. H. Tickell rendered first aid.

The boys were not traveling very fast when the accident occurred but state something went wrong with the stering gear and they lost control of the car, which swerved across the street and turned over.

Later reports show the Sandow boy received a fracture of the knee, Marlan Young was burned by the water from the radiator dripping on him. Ernest Young is the most seriously injured of the three. X-rays taken at the Jones hospital show he has suffered fractures of the pelvis and his leg is practically torn from the body at the hip.

FORMER AUSTIN HOME TOTAL LOSS BY FIRE

The former home of Victor E. Austin, near the Willow Valley school was completely destroyed by fire of unknown origin last Friday. State Ranger W. F. Sharp with several men and a fire truck went out but were unable to do anything to save the building.

The place is now owned by Mrs. Ann M. Brown, who had it rented. The tenants believe the fire due to a defective flue.

He is survived by his widow, who is also at the hospital.

GOLD DISPLAYS TO FEATURE STATE FAIR

Sacramento, Aug. 23—"Gold, boys, gold! Jim Marshall's found gold!" And at the California State Fair this year elaborate displays of gold nuggets and ores will impress visiting throngs with the fact that the hills and gulches of the Golden State are still yielding millions of dollars worth of the yellow metal that turned the word topsy-turvy eighty years ago.

A. C. Hardison, director in charge of the minerals department, announced today that $300 will be awarded for placer and lode gold specimens and ores exhibited at the State Fair, Aug. 30—Sept. 7. Some of the displays will come from the very place where Jim Marshall found the first golden flakes in his Coloma mill race in 1848.

In addition to the premium money for gold, $1,000 will be awarded for other California minerals, including silver, copper, quicksilver, tungsten, non-metallic ores, gems, oil and building materials. All of the "Mother Lode Counties" will feature minerals in their exhibits.

PIONEER GOLD MINES PLAN IMPROVEMENTS

New equipment to include a compressor, electric hoist and pump are to be installed by the Pioneer Gold Mines, which is planing to sink about 150 feet to a total depth of 450 feet from which drifts will be run along the vein. It is expected to get to paying ore soon after work is commenced on the vein.

This mine is one of the promising properties but has been held up by the usual miner's troubles. It has now been announced that the work can go ahead without further delay and it is hoped the development will prove entirely satisfactory to the owners. H. H. Marsh is the superintendent.

The city trustees also ordered the cleaning of the city reservoirs which will be done at once. The matter of fencing the reservoirs so as to prevent small animals from drowning in them was also discussed.

REOPENING OF NEW ENGLAND IS ASSURED

A. R. Archibald returned from New York last Wednesday after several weeks absence with the assurance that the New England and Banner group of claims will be reopened shortly and a new company backed by eastern capital.

This is most gratifying news to the people of the Nevada City District as it means the placing in operation of two additional groups of mines which are known by their past record to have been high class producers. This will bring the number of properties being operated in the Nevada City District up to seven.

Mr. Archibald states that on account of reorganization and other details now being arranged no definite plans of development can be given out at this time.

The successful financing of these properties is further evidence of the importance fast being attained by this district, which has been neglected for so many years.

The Nugget hopes to be able to announce important news of other deals now pending in an early issue.

COLUMBIA HILL HAULING WATER TO DRINK

Federal prohibition raiders will not be called upon to pussyfoot into Columbia Hill because that town is dry; so dry in fact that some families are hauling their drinking water by truck. The source of supply is the spring on the old English homestead.

While this year has been unusually scarce on account of the several mild winters we have had. The springs supplying the old reservoir drying up shortly after the rains ceased.

Unfortunate inded are these people of the ridge towns who are unable to raise garden vegetables or even flowers because of a lack of water.

Water is a heritage that belongs with the land, but since the hydraulic mines have ceased to operate, supply ditches have been allowed to go to ruin and the water of the Yubas, on either side of the ridge, which should rightfully supply its summer needs, have been appropriated and taken into Placer county.

N. I. D. TO SUE POWER CO. FOR WATER

At the last meeting of the board of directors of the Nevada Irrigation district it was decided to proceed with plans to sue the Pacific Gas & Electric Company for the 1927 water bill over which so much dispute has arisen. The payment of the water bill owing the irrigation district would materially aid its financial condition.

A conference with the bond syndicate is contemplated and further discussion of the matter will take place at the next meeting.

COZY CORNER CHAT

A vote for Jerry Seawell is a boost for mining and a boost for mining is a vote for the prosperity of Nevada County. No matter wehther you are a worker, an employer, a merchant, a lawyer, a doctor or a housewife, your future prosperity is going to be directly affected by the condition of the mines.

Now then, can YOU afford to jeopardize the mining indurstry?

There is only one answer. NO!

Vote for Jerry Seawell and you are assured the mining interests are in capable hands in the assembly. You gain nothing by swapping horses in midstream and certainly stand to lose. There is no reason for making a change. Leave well enough alone.

We quot the following from an editorial by the late A. A. Willoughby after the assembly had passed the Seawell Hydraulic Mining Bill:

"When The Nugget stood alone among the newspapers last year and proclaimed to the voters of this district that Jerry Seawell was a man who would fight for his district it sincerely felt that he would vindicate that trust in legislation affecting this district. He has abundantly done so in his victory with the placer mining bill to the assembly. When the going looked dark after an adverse vote last week, he buckled on his fighting armour and went into the front line trenches in behalf of one of our major assets and by his sheer personality won by a three vote majority.

The lone fight made by Jerry is likely to bring about the formation of a state wide mining association which will be in a position to wield a powerful influence in legislative affairs in behalf of the mining industry which has suffered the whim of willy nilly legislation for many years. The mining profession is totally unorganized as far as effecting any political strength is concerned and this must needs be corrected if we are to have our interests protected".

How true the first statement and how true the prediction by the late editor with regard to formation of a mining association..

A great deal of the credit for this goes to Jerry Seawell. He is able, honest and faithful. His record recommends him above any other. Mark your ballot for Seawell.

Whatever else you do or do not do tomorrow—VOTE. It is not only your privelege but your duty as an American citizen.

Does the thought strike you, gentle reader, as you wander down the street these cool summer evenings, that Nevada City isn't such a bad place to live in after all?

How many of you people who are privileged to live in this joyous part of Nevada County appreciate how fortunate you really are? How many of you really give the matter a serious thought?

But, if you could just transport yourself, we'll say to troubled India, with its ant-like population of destitution and struggle for existence. If you could imagine yourself one of the unfortunate citizens of Communist ridden China, where thousands starve every year, within a hundred miles of plenty, because they are no roads or means of transportation.

If fate had placed you in the Arctic, where two-thirds of your life were spent cooped up in the foul air of an ice igloo, with a temperature of zero on the floor and 90 degrees three feet above the floor. Or, if by chance you had to live under a tropic sun where exposure to its scorching rays brings convulsions and often death to the average white. Wher scorpions, tarantulas, snakes and all kinds of venomus insects spread themselves on your walls, drop from the ceiling or use your shoes for a hiding place. Or, to get nearer home, let's go down on the desert someplace, where if you lie on your back at night your eye pockets are filled with burning perspiration. Where, after laboring all day, you can stifle under a wetsheet at night.

Let's get out into the northern woods where the mosquito works in three shifts, and the day shift is augumented by the bull dog fly, the sand fly,wh ich penetrates through your veil of mosquito netting, and by the horse fly and the deer fly, both of which circle your head awaiting the chance to stab through your tender hide.

Yet thousands of humans exist in these places because they are unable to get away; they know nothing different.

And, sad to relate, we complain—at least most of us do—at the heat, at the dust, at the cold or something else, when we should be the most thankful people on earth.

There isn't a night in Nevada City—and we say this because we know whereof we speak—that a person on a sleeping porch cannot stand a blanket on his bed.

We have no mosquitoes worth mentioning; no sand flies, nor bull dog flies nor horse flies to bother us.

There isn't an hour in the day when we can't go out and use all the water we want under ample pressure for all purposes and that water is the purest that can be desired for drinking.

As far as the weather is concerned, we are about 99 per cent safe in making any appointment between the first day of June and the first of October.

Right at this time, as the sun gets furhter south, there is a tang of fall in the air; the heat of summer is giving way to that delightful clearness and crispness that comes with September in this altitude. It is the harvest time of pears, of peaches and plums; of corn and melons and tomatoes, and all the good things that grow in our gardens.

So why shouldn't we say it—and mean it—that Nevada City is a mighty good place to live after all.

PLANS MADE FOR HYDRAULIC MINING

By James D. Stewart, E. M.

If the estimable gentlemen who signed the article prepared by the "Young" campaign managers, had read it carefully and thought it over even more carefully, they probably would not have signed it.

They state that no well laid plan has been formulated for a resumption of hydraulic mining and the building of dams therefor.

The Legislature of 1924 and 1925 passed a bill appropriating $10,000 to investigate the feasibility of resuming hydraulic mining. This was spent in co-operation with the engineers of the California Debris Commission, a Federal body acting for the Federal Government. These findings and plans are embodied in an 85 page bulletin, reporting to the Legislature of 1926 and 1927.

Upon its adoption the Coludman Bill was introduced as the first step, to put it into effect.

Because of Governor Young's effective lobbying, it was defeated by one vote in the senate.

It was again introduced in the legislature of 1928 and 1929 by Assemblyman Seawell and in spite of Governor Young's tactics as a lobbyist, and the treachery in our own camp, it was passed by both houses of the Legislature, only to be vetoed by Governor Young without giving the author of the bill or the hydraulic miners a chance to be heard, although those opposed were granted a hearing.

It is a strange thing that the men who sign this article have had nothing to say in this matter all these years until this opportune time And stranger still that some of them have verbally expressed their approval of the campaign and others have written the oversigned, expressing approval of the campaign in behalf of the hydraulic miners.

Anyone can get a copy of the report to the legislature, giving the plans for a resumption of hydraulic mining; anyone can get a copy of the Commonwealth Club's study of this matter, in which the plans were thoroughly threshed out, and anyone interested can call up or write to Congressman Englebright and ask him what he is doing to further definite plans.

Congressman Englebright now has two amendments to the Caminetti Act before the Mines and Mining committee of the House of Representatives.

These ar part of a definite plan. Why did not these gentlemen come into the open weeks ago, instead of a last minute, too-late-to-answer article?

Everyone is entitled to his opinion and everyone has a right to his voice as to who shall be governor, but everyone should at least display a maximum of truth and a minimum of ignorance in such matters.

These hydraulic miners operating behind the Bullards Bar dam are a little more fortunately situated than the rest of us and we'll sure appreciate it if you will throw us a life line instead of an anchor.

FRENCH CORRAL ITEMS

FRENCH CORRAL, Aug. 23 (Special to The Nugget)—Fruit, fruit, fruit! All so busy picking, canning, drying, and eating, that we hardly find time for anything else.

The weather is quite agreeable with an extra hot day thrown in frequently. We don't complain much at this, for we always know that night will bring coolness and comfort.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Culver were visitors in Tyler Friday evening.

Charlie Corey of Nevada City had business in French Corral Friday. Charlie was a one time French Corral boy. He is now in the radio business in Nevada City.

F. Bean had business in Marysville Saturday.

Cydie Browning has been busy during the week, hauling lumber, for J. H. Haslett, who is now located at French Corral. As many of the dredger boats in Hammonton have suspended operations ,the little town is rapidly being depopulated and many are tearing down their houses and moving the lumber elsewhere.

A. Browning, who is employed in Nevada City visited his family in this place Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Rundy of Sacramento were Sunday visitors. Both were one time residents and Mrs. Rundy a native of Nevada City. Mrs Rundy was for several years on the staff of Nevada county school teachers and in this work, she was very successful. She was then Miss Mary McNichols.

Harry Browning, who is working near Pike City made a short visit to his home Sunday.

Mrs. Eliza Shurtlill of Nevada City and her brother, Robert Smith of Los Angeles, were Sunday visitors. Both are natives of French Corral and their many friends were pleased to welcome them.

Miss Millie Clerkin was down from Pike City Sunday .On her return trip she was accompanied by Irene Browning, who will spend her vacation in the mountains until school begins.

J. W. Culver had business in Nevada City Monday.

Mrs. E. De Prati visited friends in Bridgeport Wednesday.

The entire ridge shares mourning with the family of the late Dr. J. R. Corbett. The news of his death following so closely on the death of his wife came as a terrible shock and the aged grandfathr, Prof. J. R. Davis, and the three little sons have the deepest sympathy the heart can feel.

Mrs. J. M. Hyde and daughter, Elizabeth, of Hollywood visited friends in French Corral last week. They were accompanid by Mrs. C. H. Jones and Mrs. Wm. Burnett of Sweetland. Mrs. Hyde is native of Sebastopol and always delights in coming back to the old home place. In departing she took with her as a treasured relic, a beautiful clock which was the gift of her lifelong friend, the late Mrs. J. D. Morris. This old time piece has been ticking away the hours for more than 65 yars, and had never been up for repairs but onc in all that time.

FIRE ALONG POWER LINE IS QUICKLY CONTROLLED

A forest fire along the P. G. & E. power line from Colgate was quickly under control Thursday through the efforts of assistant fire warden George Howe and twenty men with th help of a number of men sent out by the power company Several men were left to guard the fire through the night and to put out what remained of the fire.

Photographer's Troubles

A photographer, compelled by the exigencies forced upon him by the physiognomies of his customers, hung a neatly framed sign in his studio bearing the epigram of Oliver Cromwell, spoken to the artist who painted him without the warts which are said to have ornamented his countenance: "Paint me as I am, moles and all, or, by my halidome, I won't pay for the portrait!"

To the gentle insinuation promulgated by this sign, one of the photographer's sitters added in pencil: "When I pay you, it will be for making me look handsomer than I am. When I wish to behold myself as I really appear, I can always look in the mirror."

Justice in Abyssinia

In one respect the Abyssinian courts would meet the approval of that Shakespearean character who urged the killing of all lawyers. The legal profession is practically nonexistent in Abyssinia and each man tries his own case. For important cases there are regular courts presided over by appointed judges. The chief justice of Abyssinia rejoices in the title of "Breath of the King." For minor cases, however, impromptu courts are called and any passerby may be called on to act as judge.

Just a Taste

Three-year-old Betty Lou, who lives in a town, delights in trips to the farm with her next door neighbors. Recently while on one of these trips she saw the pet lamb fed from a bottle and was very much interested. After the bottle was emptied she thrust her little hand through the fence to pet the lamb. She drew it back hastily. When asked whether it bit her she replied:

"No, it just tasted my hand."

Make Practice of Giving

Giving is much more important in life than getting. And so much better. Let us be the first to give a friendly nod and smile, to speak first, give first, and, if such a thing is necessary, forgive first and forget first.—Grit.

Venerable Flemish City

The city of Ghent in Flanders has existed from the very earliest time, and no exact date can be given for its settlement, nor is the derivation of the name accurately known. The site was occupied by prehistoric tribes and later by the Celts and Belgii and Nervii. It is mentioned as early as the Seventh century. According to one author, Ghent was originally Gand, which derives from a Celtic word meaning "confluent," in reference to the location of the city at the confluence of the rivers Scheldt and Lys.

No Wonder

Two strangers on a train got into conversation. The windows had just been let down and the desultory chatter consequently turned to the subject of ventilation.

"I make it," said one of the two, "an invariable practice to advise people to sleep with their bedroom window open all the year round."

"Ha, ha!" laughed the other; "I perceive that you are a doctor!"

"Not at all!" was the reply. "To tell you the truth, strictly between ourselves, I'm a burglar!"

Castles in the Air

"If you have built castles in the air, your work need not be lost; that is where they should be. Now put the props under them," said Henry David Thoreau. Helen Keller says we cannot always realize our realities, and our ideas must be practical if we are to make a religion of them and live by them. Phillips Brooks expressed a high ideal in these words: "We reduce life to the pettiness of our daily living. We should exalt our living to the grandeur of life."

Old-Time Party Emblems

Research does not reveal the continued use of the same emblems by the Federalist and Whig political parties. The black cockade worn on the hat was an emblem adopted by the Federalists during the troubles with France in 1798. Black Cocade Federalist was a term of reproach applied to members of the party during the days of its decline. The Whigs were sometimes called Snuff-Takers. Other names used particularly in illustrations were Cotton Whigs and Free-Soil party. This later term was also applied to the later Democrats and Liberty party. In the Whigs' famous "Hoopla" campaign in 1840 there were torchlight processions carrying a miniature log cabin, a barrel of hard cider near the door with a pet raccoon chained to the roof.—Washington Star.

GANG POLITICS
HONEST GOVERNMENT

"WHICH SHALL IT BE, MR. VOTER?"

Mayor Rolph and Buron Fitts, joining forces in a desperate, eleventh-hour drive to defeat Governor C. C. Young, are now positively and definitely working in collusion—using identical campaign tax literature, probably paid for by identical 'interests.'

The battle cry is "ANYTHING TO BEAT YOUNG"—anything, in other words, to beat the man who has defied Bosses!

GOVERNORC. C. YOUNG

IS AN HONEST, ABLE EXECUTIVE

He has been your Governor—not their 'tool."

He has REDUCED state overhead; LOWERED state taxes; ACCUMMULATED a great $29,000,000 surplus; CONSTRUCTED a great state highway system.

Governor C. C. Young's sole offense, fellow voters, is that he has appointed sound business men, rather than hungry politicians, to positions of public trust.

Governor C. C. Young's "Unpardonable Sin" is that he has refused to be the puppet of the bosses—refused, for instance, to give "Boss" Finn control of the State Harbor at San Francisco.

DON'T BE BETRAYED

Remember, when you go to the polls on August 26, that Governor Young's initials are C. C. See the C. C. and stamp your ballot for C. C. Young.

Another "Young" has been placed on the ballot by underworld politicians in an effort to deceive you.

POLITICAL COLUMN

J. L. 'JERRY' SEAWELL

To the Voters of the Third Assembly District:

Greetings:

Being again a candidate for re-election to the State Assembly from this District I am endeavoring to reach all of those with this message whom I have been unable to personally contact.

This District has many problems and industries which are conflicting to some extent and I have endeavored to represent all the interests of the district in such a way as not to injure any one industry in an effort to promote the welfare of another.

That I have successfully represented the District, I believe, is borne out by the Endorsements given to me by the following organizations:

Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineer
United Veterans of the Republic
Nevada County Republican Central Committee.
Retail Lumbermans Association
State Mining Association.

All representative organizations having or doing business in this district.

I am basing this record as my qualifications for re-election and trust it shall be my privilege to again be chosen as your Representative in the State Assembly.

Very sincerely yours,
JERROLD L. SEAWELL.

JAMES ROLPH, JR.

To the Voters of Nevada County:

I leave my candidacy in your hands. I have campaigned every county in California, taking my fight right to the people. I have studied the state as no other Governor or no other candidate has ever done. I have looked down upon our mountains, our valleys, our long coast line, where I have had an pportunity to make a thorough survey of the needs of the state. I have talked with the people in every county in California. I have assured them that if elected governor, I will be the Governor of no one section of California but of every part of it.

I have listened to broken promises for highways, and other improvements which were made in the campaign of four years ago, and which have been re-asserted in the present campaign for th purpose of ensnarnig votes. I have never made a promise and broken it. My promise to you is to develop California in a business-like way; to speed up work on your highways, get action on solving the great state water conservation problem and at the same time, administer the stat affairs in a human and practical mannr.

Mining ,timber, agriculture and stockraising will be given fullest encouragement by me as Governor.

California can be developed better by applyin strict business methods than by theoretical and political promises.

JAMES ROLPH

C. C. YOUNG

To The Voters of Nevada County

I have complete confidence in the outcome of the election because I have an abiding faith in the honesty and fair judgment of the people of California.

I have made my fight for re-election on the record of our accomplishments during the last four years. I am willing to be judged by you on the highways we have built, the $29,000,000 surplus we have accumulated, the reduction in state ocerhead we have accomplished and the businesslike reorganization of state government which we have effected.

I have sought as Governor to be your business manager, to give you one hundred cents' return for every dollar expended and at the same time to be fair to all sections and all classes. If I have kept the faith I shall appreciate greatly your vote of confidence at the Republican Primary Election.

Sincerely yours,
C. C. YOUNG,
Governor.

MAURICE M. DAUBIN

To the Voters of Assembly District Number Three, comprising the Counties of Lassen, Plumas, Sierra, Nevada and Placer:

As the campaign for the office of Assemblyman closes, I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the voters of the third Assembly District, for the many courtesies they have extended to me during the recent weeks. These courtesies have made this campaign one of the pleasant events of my life. I have enjoyed meeting the people of the district and learning of their problems. I want to assure them that if they see fit to elect me to this important office that I shall devote my best efforts to work in their behalf. At any rate I shall always cherish the friendships I have made and the kindness that has been shown to me.

During the war I served our country in France. Since that time I have been manager of the Sterling Lumber Company in their important offices in the state of California. In civic work it has always been my pleasure to work openly and honestlyfo r those things I believed to be right and against those things I believed to be right and against those things I believed were wrong. If elected your assemblyman, I shall continue along the same lines.

I believe in the development of our vast storehouse of natural resources, in an intelligent and constructive way. Our forests, mines, water and power must be made to do the work that Nature intends them to do. In the final analysis, nature has given us a certain heritage that we can and must take advantage of, if our people are to benefit therefrom.

Gold, that started a hue and cry around the world, and caused civilization to trek to our shores, is lying in abundance in these hills. We must wrest it from the ground. Our nation's gold supply is diminishing and the country looks to California to replenish it.This Assembly District must take the lead. I stand for the development of these mines.

Agriculture has a place in our economic life and it too, must have consideration. If elected, my best efforts will be exerted to the development of the district I shall represent. I have learned something of your problems. Before the legislature meets I shall revisit the various sections of the district and definitely work out a program with you, and then go to Sacramento to carry on under the banner of progress.

I served you in war. I shall be glad to serve you in the more important problems of peace, as your legislative representative.

Sincerely yours,
MAURICE M. DAUBIN.

O. E. WINBURN

Citizens of Nevada County:

My only campaign pledge, should I be elected your District Attorney, is that I will faithfully and fearlessly perform my duties.

My election will put in the office a new man with new policies, and without political affiliations or connection with any clique that may now have influence, or that may desire control, over the enforcement of law in Nevada County.

No one has contributed one dollar to the expenses of my campaign. If elected I will take office solely as the choice of the voting citizens of Nevada County, and I will be free to give a fair and square deal to every citizen.

My successful practice of law for 18 years indicates that I know my business, and the fact that I have had years of experience as a public law officer demonstrates that I know what a district attorney should do to uphold the law of the country

CARL J. TOBIASSEN

To The Voters of Nevada County

Believing that the perpetuation in public office of any man, when any other equally competent citizen is available is foreign to the conceptions of good government, I beg to submit my candidacy for the office of Sheriff of Nevada County.

I believe that the qualification of any citizen seeking a public office are builded upon his daily work and not by declarations made in a political campaign. My boyhood and my manhood days have been spent in your community and my entire life has been an open book, Known to everyone.

If I am elected rigid economy will characterize my administration.

The taxpayers are to be considered at all times. Equality in the enforcement of all laws will be my goal.

I pledge if I am elected by you the elimination of favoritisms and the absolutely fair, just and impartial treatment of everyone in the county.

CARL J. TOBIASSEN,
Candidate for Sheriff of Nevada County.

ELECT RAY L. RILEY FOR STATE CONTROLLER

According to Arthur W. Brouillet, campaign manager for Ray L. Riley, State Controller and Republican candidate for renomination, reports he is receiving from every county indicate that Riley will be renominated by a very wide margin over the two candidates who are opposing him at the primary. Riley's nine years of efficient service and his reputation for fair dealing and integrity have established for him a statewide popularity with voters, hundreds of whom in every community have enrolled as volunteer workers in his behalf. Brouillet expressed the belief that Riley's vote will far exceed that by which he was elected four years ago when nearly 750,000 citizens expressed their approval of his administration of the state controller's office.

Editors Note—A short time ago the editor was troubled by a statement made by one of the gubernatorial candidates in regards to taxes paid by corporations. In vain she sought an answer until she appealed to State Controller Riley. In a personal letter to the Editor Mr Riley explained the situation. He was leaving at the time for southern California, but he took time to do so as a personal favor.

Early in the spring Mr. Riley announced his candidacy for Governor but thru political juggelry was persuaded to withdraw from the campaign. He would have made a formidable opponent in that field.

FRANK MERRIAM LEADING RACE FOR LT. GOVERNOR

That Frank F. Merriam, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, is leading the field of candidates by a wide margin, was the view expressed by Senator Nelson T. Edwards of Orange following a swing throughout the state which Edwards recently completed.

"Republican leaders everywhere express the belief that Mreriam is easily the leading contender for the office of lieutenant governor" Senator Edwards declared.

Senator Edwards' views are confirmed by Justus F. Craemer, vice-president of the California Press Association and former president of the California Newspaper Publishers' Association, who accompanied Senator Edwards.

"Mr. Merriam's splendid record in the legislature and his all around equipment for the office of lieutenant governor has obtained for him wide recognition as the logical choice for the place. A summary of the views of qualified political observers including newspaper publishers throughout the state will show that Merriam is regarded as the leading candidate", said Mr. Craemer.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY MINING ASSOCIATION

The following are the resolutions adopted by the Board of Directors of the Mining Association of California at its regular quarterly meeting held in Sacramento, California, on July 26, 1930.

"WHEREAS", the present State Administration, through the responsible heads of Governmental Departments, declared at the beginning of the present administration, before a meeting of miners assembled at Sacramento, that it was the purpose of the State Government of California to do everything humanly possible to further the interests of mining in California, and

WHEREAS, in spite of the protests of the miners, the Department of Mining has been consolidated with departments having nothing in common with mining and the metal mining division has been severed from the oil and gas division, causing division of effort, and minimizing the efficiency of the mining industry as a whole, and

WHEREAS, appointees and officials under the present state administration appeared in the legislative halls to lobby against measures that sought to improve mining conditions and opportunities, and

WHEREAS, the Workmen's Compensation Insurance rate for the mining industry has increased from $5.26 per $100.00 of pay-roll in 1926 to $9.42 per $100.00 of payroll at present, which latter rate is the highest rate charged in any state in the United States, so far as we have been advised, and is an oppressive and almost prohibitory burden on the mining industry, and is operating to discourage outside capital from investing in the industry in California, and

WHEREAS, this ever increasing rate of compensation insurance is due in part, at least, to laxity in, or absence of, the enforcement by the proper inspectors or enforcement officials under the present administration, of the California Mining Safety laws, in proof of which fact we cite the death of seven miners in the gas filled hills of the Coast Range, and the further fact that in spite of the deaths of these seven men, twelve more were allowed to go to their deaths in the same manner, a few weeks later, and

WHEREAS, five men met their death in the Glenn mine, Placer county, on account of conditions, according to our information, which proper inspection would not have permitted, wooden buildings in which were stored gasoline, and other inflammable and deadly gas generation materials, being grouped about the mouth of the tunnel. In this case, we are informed, there had been no official inspection at all, but if there had been, it is evident the state laws for mining safety were not properly enforced, and

WHEREAS, a continuation of such avoidable disasters, snuffing out human lives, will not only bring its attendant suffering to the families of the victims, but it will increase the accident experience of the mining industry to a point that will further increase the costs of compensation insurance, close more mines unable to meet the growing cost and will still further discourage the investment of capital in this industry.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: That the board of directors of the Mining Association of California, in regular session assembled at Sacramento, this 26th day of July, 1930, do severely condemn the failure on the part of the state government to cause its mining inspectors properly to perform their duties, and we insist thatthe industry of mining be recognized as a proper and legitimate industry by the state government that the compensation insurance rate for mining be revised downward, so as to be comparable with insurance rates of other mining states; we further insist that our state government recognize its responsibility for the enforcement of mining safety laws, and thereby better protect the lives of mining men, and finally, we protest what appears to us to be an unfriendly, or at least, an indifferent attitude on the part of the state government toward the mining industry".

Orators Must Bow to Sentiment for Brevity

A shorthand expert says that Americans talk much faster than they did twenty years ago. Is the old poise and dignified deliberation weakening? Or is it the case, that if you don't talk fast, you don't get listened to? Do people regard it as an imposition that you should think you are entitled to all the time you like to make your utterance? Other people want to tell their stories, too.

It is irking to a long-winded though pithy person to have to whisk into the conversation and whisk out again. He wants time for his weighty observations to "sink in." Whereas, if he takes up too much time, some of his auditors on the outer fringes are sure to slink out.

The learned and verbose are at a disadvantage. The world has only so much time to spare and few are allowed to claim more than their share. Make it brief, is the universal sentiment. This being true, those who have something to say would better bide their time and keep their powder dry. "Don't fire till you see the whites of their eyes," and use your best bombshells.—F. H. Collier in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Qualities of Asbestos Known to Charlemagne

The Emperor Charlemagne is said to have possessed a cloth of asbestos with which he often astonished his guests. After having partaken of a meal and imbibed freely of wine, his banqueting friends would be dulled to the proper degree of credulity. Then the emperor would grasp a corner of the tablecloth and sweep it from the rough-hewn table into the fire.

Startled, the guests would gather around and in amazement watch the flames vainly lick about the coverlet. Then the emperor would thrust in his hand and pull the cloth clear of the blazing coals, which had bleached it to whiteness, and return it to the table. A miracle, every one would exclaim, and it is said that even Charlemagne himself wondered.—New York Times.

Cradle for Baby Oysters

Paper cradles are being employed with success in the artificial culture of oysters. The cradles are cardboard lattices, like those used in partition egg crates, in which the baby oysters are kept. The system has been found to develop even-sized oysters, while eliminating the loss due to crowding and producing greater quantities of seed oysters from a given area than by the ordinary method of shell-planting.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

BRET HARTE PARK EXPLAINED TO LIONS

Fred Harbert, membership director of the Bret Harte Recreational Park, was the speaker at the Lions meeting in Grass Valley last week and explained the object and the plans of the club in detail. He wished to impress on the Lions of the community the many advantages of the park to the immediate community and that a great deal depended on the spirit displayed here and the cooperation given by the local people.

Elk lodge members to the number of 325 have already taken memberships, the charter will remain open until 500 memberships have been taken at the present cost of $100. The remaining 500 memberships will be sold at gradually increased rates. One fifth down payment is required the balance may be paid in installments as the development progresses Each member received a lot with his membership, the drawing for lots will take place in November.

During September the chief engineer, Allan Lozier, will arrive and begin surveys. Roads, landing field, swimming hole, play grounds and cabin construction will get under way as soon as it is possible to do so but it would not be fair to expect this all at once. The full development calls for a three year program at the end of which Nevada county will have a recreation park of which it may be justly proud and which should give this part of the county much favorable advertising.

On the Funny Side

WHY?

A woman engaged a new maid who seemed to be self-possessed and independent.

On the first morning after her arrival not a sound was heard in the house, so the mistress rang the bell. There was no reply. Finally she called up the stairs:

"Are you awake, Mary?"

"Yes," answered the maid. "Why?"

Hardest Part of the Acting

"Is the movie actress vain and supercilious?"

"Not naturally. She only seems that way."

"For what reason?"

"She's trying to live up to the reputation of being as superlatively silly as the publicity experts have represented her."

STATE FAIR SHOWS BIGGEST, SMALLEST HORSE

Sacramento—The biggest and littlest horses in California moved into the State Fair grounds today, to be exhibited at the California State Fair which opens August 30th.

The biggest is named Maple Grove Wonder, a mammoth Percheron that tips the scales at 2,400 pounds. The littlest, as yet unnamed, is a Shetland pony 18 inches high.

Both are owned by H. C. Muddox & Son of Sacramento county. They are but two of eighty-three horses and ponies entered in the Fair by these exhibitors. They represent a value of $75,000 and are exhibited only at the California State Fair.

Muddox & Son are known as among the leading breeders of Percheron and Clydesdale horses in America.

Manganese in Steel Making

The steel industry takes approximately 95 per cent of all the manganese consumed in this country. The percentage of the metal which goes into the steel varies from around 1 per cent to as high as 12 per cent in steels in which particular hardness is desired.

Manganese has long been used in removing oxygen from molten steel, but it is only of late years that its value as a hardening agent has been realized.

So It Would

They wandered out of the movie, she clutching his arm.

"It was," he replied. "D'you know, darling, all the time I was watching it I kept thinking what a wonderful book it would make."—Unidentified clipping.
